

5 Reasons to Inventory Your Home

Home Inventory: if everybody should have one, why don't more people keep an accurate, up to date listing of everything in their home? Frankly, because the thought of writing down everything under your roof with full descriptions including serial and model numbers, and then matching pictures of everything is daunting to say the least.

The phrase I hear most often is, "I wish I knew about Home Inventory Experts before..." They are referring to the time before the fire, tornado, robbery, death, divorce, water pipe leak, etc. The list goes on and on. Everyday life

One of the main reasons more homeowners don't have a home inventory is because

Why do you need a home inventory? Quite simply because all sorts of things happen and life is unpredictable. You never know what's going to happen.
